DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 11-15 and 24 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fourtet(US 6,345,173). The reference by Fourtet et al discloses a PLL system(see figures 3 and 4) with direct modulation (combination of modulating data and phase error) tuning input to a VCO(160,260); also, channel selection by way of the variable feedback divider(263) is shown. Not in Col. 6, lines 52-55, that an adjustable attenuator(not shown) maybe

Art Unit: 2817

The reference does not show a DCO implementation with tuning control word input (such as a DAC and analog VCO).

With regards this, the use of a DCO instead of the analog VCO alone is conventional and notoriously well known in the art. All digital PLL systems incorporating the digitally controlled VCO have been used in the prior art to allow a more compact and integrated system especially for digital communication systems.

In light of the above it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to have recognized that the loop of Fournet et al. could be implemented in digital form so as to take advantage of the integrated package.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-10, 16, 17-23 and 25 are allowed. The examiner could not find fair suggestion for path gain and/or loop gain multiplier. No all pass filter has been suggested.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 05-23-09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The examiner has considered applicants concern that the reference has two PLL's, however, the claim does not limit the PLL system to just one; as shown in figure 4, the PLL250 is responsive to channel selection and modulating data to generate filtered phase error on the input to the VCO.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37

CFR 1.136.

date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
